

Things are changing

Central Politics Research Office

(This article can be published in the Party Journal, but not published in the public.

(This article is written in mid-May.)

The unity and struggle of the opposites are prevalent in social life. As a result of the struggle, towards its own negative side, the establishment of a new unity, social life is a step forward.

The Communist Party is a struggle between the two styles of unity. This is true within the Communist Party, and within the people as a whole.

Within the Communist Party, there are various people. There are Marxist, which is most. They also have drawbacks, but not serious. Some people have dogmatic misconceptions. Most of these people are loyal to the Party as a country, that is, the way to look at the problem has a one-sided character of the “left”. Overcoming this one-sided nature, they will go a big step further. And some people have the wrong idea of revisionism or right-leaning opportunistic. These people are dangerous because their minds are a reflection of the Bourgeois ideology within the party, they call for bourgeois liberalism, negate everything, and they are inextricably linked to the bourgeois intellectuals in society. For months, people have been critical of dogmatism, but revisionism has been lost.

Dogmatism should be criticized, not dogmatic, and many mistakes cannot be corrected. It is time to start paying attention to criticism of revisionism. Dogmism is on the opposite side, either Marxism, or revisionism. In my party's experience, the former is more, and the latter are only individual, because they are a proletarian ideological faction that is contaminated with the fanatical views of the small bourgeois. Some of the “dogmatic” attacked are actually some work mistakes. Some of the “dogmatic” attacked, in fact Marxism, were attacked by some mistakenly as “dogmatic”. There is a reason why real dogmists feel that “left” is better than right, because they want to revolutionize. But for the loss of the revolution, the “left” is nothing better than the right, and should be resolutely corrected. Some of the mistakes were made as a result of the implementation of the central approach, and the subordinate should not be overly blamed. Our party has a large number of new intellectuals (even more youth), some of which do have quite serious revisionist ideas. They deny the partisan and class character of newspapers. They mix the principle of proletarian journalism and bourgeois journalism, and they mix journalism that reflects the collective economy of socialist countries with journalism that reflects the lawlessness of capitalist countries and blocs competition. They admire bourgeois liberalism, the leader of the opposition party. They are in favour of democracy and against concentration. They oppose the leadership, planning and control necessary, but not overly focused, for cultural and educational undertakings, including journalism, necessary for the realization of the planned economy. They echo each other with the right-wing intellectuals in society, joined together, as brothers. Critics of dogmatism are all kinds of people. There are communists — Marxist. There is a “communist” in brackets, the communist right, the revisionist. There are left, center, and right in society. The centrist in society is large, accounting for about 70 percent of the total intellectuals outside the party, while the left is about 20 percent, and the right is about 1 percent, 3 percent, 5 to 10 percent, depending on the situation. In recent times, the right has shown the most resolute and rampant in democratic institutions and institutions of higher learning. They thought the centrist were their people, would not go away with the Communist Party, actually dreaming. There are some people in the centrist who are shaken, can be left and right. Now under the momentum of rampant attacks on the right, they do not want to speak, they have to wait a minute. Now the attack of the right has not reached its peak, they are delighted. The right, both inside and outside the party, do not understand the dialectic law: it must be counter We're also going to let them rampant for a period, let them go to the vertex. The more frenzy they are, the more good for us. They say, "Fear of fishing, or, "lure enemies deep, and get together." Now a large number of fish floated to the water themselves, and do not fish. This fish is not an ordinary fish, probably a shark bar, has teeth, cheerful eating people. The shark fin that people eat is the floating tool for this fish. Our struggle with the right is focused on the fight for the center, which can be won. What champions the people's democratic dictatorship, the people's government, embraces socialism and embraces the leadership of the Communist Party is false for the right, remember not to believe it. This is true of the right in the democratic parties, the right in education, the right in the literary and artistic world, the right in the press, the right in science and technology, and the right in the business world. There are two of the strongest factions: the left and the right. They contend with the centrist, and compete with each other for the leadership of the centrist. Attempts of the right-wing, competing for local, and after all. Strive for the leadership of the press, education, literature and art, science and technology. They know that the Communist Party is less than them in these respects, and so is the case. They are "national treasures" and they are unprovoked. Is there any reason for the past three anti-counter, counterproductive, ideological transformation? Too old to shake ground! They also know that many college students belong to the children of landowners, rich farmers, and bourgeois, who believe they are people who can listen to the call of the right. There are some students with right-leaning thoughts, and this is possible. Imagining this way for most students is to dream. There are also signs from the right of the press calling on workers and farmers to oppose the government.

People oppose snapping hats, which is just against the Communist Party to buckle their hats. They can hold the hat of the Communist Party and the left center of the Democratic Party and the left middle of society. How many hats have been flying out of the right hand in newspapers for months! The centrist against the buckle hat is real. We have to remove all inappropriate hats that were held by the center in the past, and do not clasp it later. In the three contrasts, in the fight against, in the transformation of ideas, certain things that are really wrong must be corrected openly, regardless of who is to whom they are. There is only a hat, not to the right. But it must also be held right. Indeed, it was the right to hold him the hat of the right. With a few exceptions, they need not be specified, leaving them a leeway to compromise under appropriate conditions. The so-called 1 percent, 3 percent, five to 10 percent of the right is an estimate, which may be more and less. Situations differ from one another within each unit, and there must be evidence, to be factual, not to be excessively, excessive is a mistake.

Many of the bourgeois and intellectuals who had served old societies always tenacity to express themselves, always keep their old world in a bit of disagreement with the new world. To transform them, it takes a long time, and no rough methods are available. But it has to be estimated that most of them have made a significant improvement over the early days of liberation, and the majority of their criticism of us are right and must be accepted.

Only a part is wrong and should be explained. They are right in asking for trust, right, they must trust them, and they must be given authority. Some of the criticisms of the right are also right and cannot be wiped out. Whosoever is right shall be adopted. The right is characterized by their political attitude to the right. They have a form of cooperation with us, in fact, not. Some things cooperate, some do not cooperate. In the case of cooperation, when there is a space to drill, such as the time now, in fact, I don't want to cooperate. They reneged on their promises to accept the Communist leadership, and they tried to get rid of it. And without such leadership, socialism cannot be built and our nation will suffer a great catastrophe.

There are millions of bourgeois and intellectuals who have served the old society, and we need them to work for us, and we must further improve our relationship with them so that they can serve the socialist cause more efficiently, so that they can further transform them to progressively class their workers, To the opposite side of the status quo. Most people are sure to achieve this. Transformation is unity, and struggle, by means of struggle, to achieve the purpose of unity. The struggle is to fight each other, and it is time for many to fight against us. The criticism of most people was reasonable, or basically reasonable, including the sharp comments that Professor Fu Ying of Peking University had not been published in the newspapers. Their criticism is intended to improve mutual relations, and their criticism is in good faith. The criticism of the right is often malicious, and they are hostile. Goodwill, malice, not conjecture, can be seen.

This time, criticism of the movement and the wind movement was launched by the Communist Party. Poison coarse with flowers, cattle ghosts and tortoise dragon and long, this is what we expect, is also what we hope. After all, the good is the majority, the bad is the minority. People say fishing big fish, we say hoe poisons, things, say different. In order to achieve their attempts, right-wing elements with anti-Communist sentiments, they desperate everything and want to scratch a typhoon above level 7 that hurt crops and destroyed houses in this Chinese land. The more unreasonable they do, the sooner they will throw them to the opposite side of the past pretending to cooperate and pretend to accept the leadership of the Communist Party, so that the people know that they are just a handful of anti-Communist deities. Then they would bury themselves. What's bad about this?

There are two ways out of the right. One, clamp the tail, change the evil. One, continue to farther, take away perish. Right gentlemen, where to go, initiative (a short term) is in your hands.

In our country, there are several criteria to identify the political truth and evil of the bourgeois and bourgeois intellectuals. The main thing is whether people really want socialism and genuine acceptance of the leadership of the Communist Party. These two articles, they have long admitted, and now some people want to turn the case, that doesn't work. As long as they turn these two articles, the People's Republic of China will have no place for them. That is the ideal of the Western world (a free country), or please go there! Why is a lot of reactionary pandemonium speech allowed to be published in the newspaper? This is for the people to see these poisonous herbs and gas, so that they can hoe it and destroy it.

Why didn't you say this earlier? Why didn't you talk early? Didn't we already say that all poisonous grass must be hoed off?

You divide people into the left, middle and right, it is not the case? In addition to the desert, where there are crowds, there are left, middle and right, and it will be the case after 10,000 years. Why is not the case? Divided, so that the masses have a view of the people's direction, easy to fight for the middle and isolate the right.

Why not fight for the right? To fight for. It is possible to fight only if they feel isolated. Now that their tail is seizing into heaven, and they are trying to destroy the Communist Party, then Ken Fan? Isolation will polarize, and we must divide the right. We have always divided the crowd into the left, middle, right, or progress, middle, backward, not since today, some people forget.

Is it going to be big "whole"? It is up to the right gentlemen to decide in the future.

Poison grass is to hoe, this is ideological hoe poison grass. "Whole" people is another thing. Less than someone "serious violation of the law" is not subject to "whole". What is "serious violations of the law"? It is that the interests of the State and the interests of the people have been seriously undermined, and such damage is caused by repeated inaction. Other common mistakes, even more are cures to save people. This is an appropriate limit, both inside and outside the party. "Whole" is also a cure to save people.

How much time will it take to complete the party rectification task? Now the situation is moving fast and party relations will improve rapidly. It looks like, weeks, months, some a year or so (rural, for example), can be done. As for learning Marxism and raising the level of thought, it would take longer.

Our solidarity and struggle with the bourgeois and intellectuals will be long-term. But there are two or three five-year plans, which are estimated to be similar. After the Communist Party has come to an end, we will recommend that the democratic parties and all sectors of society should exercise brace, which will accelerate their progress and isolate the right-wing minority more easily. Now it's the outsiders who help us get the wind. After a while, we helped the outsiders to get the wind. This is to help each other, so that the crooked winds fall off, to the opposite side, into a positive wind. That is what the people hope for us, and we should fulfil their hopes.