

Mr. Wu Yisan:

The 1957 Dictionary of Victim Names, "filling the historical gap in China without a list of victims", established a pioneering historical merit of Chinese culture, which is of great significance. Academic, is the history of the history, driving or surpassing the "poetry",

"Sao", "History", "Han" epoch-making typical. It's starting to take shape.

The CCP believes that "anti-rightism" is necessary, but only expanded.

Wrong and wrong. Therefore, there may be resistance to the compilation of this great dictionary.

There is still a long way to go, and perhaps we must persist until the "last judgment."

"Rightists", the essence of the nation, the elite figure among Chinese intellectuals. The content that should be recorded is currently different in detail, and there seems to be considerable room for addition.

For example, the Jiangsu writer Gao Xiaosheng, whose achievements were mainly created after the "rightists" corrected. The representative novels "Qingtian on the Top" and "Chen Yisheng Went Abroad in the City" were not recorded. The portrayal of the so-called "three red flags" and the people's commune of the Great Leap Forward in the countryside is still unparalleled in the three points of the wood! The poetic novel, the vivid image of the peasant, is indelible. In addition to successfully portraying the image of the peasants in reform and opening up, the most profound artistic model in "Chen Yisheng's Journey to the City and Going Abroad" also portrayed the peasant friend Party

Secretary who had close ties with the masses, and he sincerely took care of and helped the funnel household Chen Yisheng, but chen Yisheng lost all of his business and even bengal without realizing it. Comedic humor, it is proposed that the party's cadres be revolutionized, knowledgeable, and civilianized, help the poor and help the poor, make friends and confidants, and guard against bureaucracy. Chen Yisheng went to the United States for an inspection, and the plot was very brilliant. Tied with "My Wealth in Australia", it won the second prize for Shanghai novels (the first prize was vacant).

Qian Liqun is not a "rightist" and has been misrecorded. The words of explanation and narrative still need to be deliberated and pondered, and efforts should be made to strive for accuracy and excellence. For example, for the role of the big dictionary, the positioning of meaning, I try to make adjustments:

"This is a reference book, a database; a memorial book, a monument; and an altar where the souls of the victims were faithfully guarded in 1957." 'Send a message to the cold star Tsuen, I recommend Xuanyuan with my blood'. The evil example of the 'anti-rightists' is even worse, how can it be repeated? The Great Dictionary warns children and grandchildren to completely block the abyss of evil that exterminates humanity and loses its conscience! Ó

Province..." Together with 12 others, they were branded as rightists.

"(To remove the quilt)."

Paragraph 2 on page 18 should be rephrased as:

These 1.20-3.1 million people have suffered long-term and cruel persecution, some have been starved to death, killed, and shot; some have died of exhaustion, illness, and suicide; among these 1.20-3.1 million people, except for a few leading figures such as Zhang Bojun and Zhang Naiqi, they have been "raised." In addition to the transformation of a very small number of cultural people, such as Feng Xuefeng and Lu Kanru, the rest of the personnel were forcibly escorted to frontiers, mountainous areas, rural areas, deserts, cold, barren, harsh climate areas, and places with extremely poor living and production conditions to serve hard labor. The laogai farms, forest farms, tea farms, mines, and factories set up in these places have hosted the vast majority of rightists. These places of labor reform are all concentration camps where the CCP has collectively slaughtered intellectuals, and all of them are slaughterhouses where the dictatorships have been exterminated by the masses. Unprecedented, a huge man-made political disaster for more than 20 years, blood and tears, and it is difficult to read. ("Arduous places" and "giant" should obviously be changed to "bitter", and the overall sentence can still be considered.)

Cases that reflect a high level of scholarship may be used as an example of Li Shen zhi's materials. Approaching Mao Zedong, the cases are significant, the impact is profound, the exemplary nature of the policy, and the readability of the materials are all immortal for a long time. The most valuable one, I am afraid, is that Li Shen zhi has been extremely successful in using concise words to depict the astonishing falsification of Mao Runzhi's

"rebellion". (Do not expand).
I suspect that if Li Shenzhi had been fortunate enough to have been hired by Gorbachev as a first-class think tank for the president, the Soviet Union might not have collapsed quickly. At the end of the last century, in the wasteland of Chinese thought, there were the backs of thinkers like Mr. Shenzhi who once wandered. Shao Yanxiang said: "When Li Shenzhi faced this with sadness, he had already sensed that the disaster called the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution was coming. "Preventing problems is not happening, but it is caught off guard." With hindsight, the empty will support the building and turn the tide against the fallen ambition. But the connotation of the material stores many useful life experiences and lessons. Words and phrases are valuable, long and precious. Li Shenzhi's confession is also the best model for Wenqu Xing since ancient times. During the "Cultural Revolution," the May Seventh Cadre School criticized the struggle and confessed his guilt, and one cadre was forced to be anxious and said in vain:
"I am trying to launch the third world war." "(Hou Baolin, the abusive speaker) Those who were punished applied for screening, but were criticized and punished heavily. A colleague whose "application" was rejected said to Li Shenzhi: "You are smart. It turned out that Li Shenzhi, cautious and repeated, also wanted to apply for screening, but felt hopeless, so he gave up. Sure enough, there was no hope. He blurted out to his colleagues: "No, I'm bad!" "Everything is not too big or small, all are careful to reflect, rigorous words and deeds, and always and everywhere embodies the high-minded and meticulous academic spirit."
My initial superficial feelings are for reference only.
The "rightists" of contemporary China who were reduced to slaves were no superior to the lives of pre-Qin slaves. Obviously the darkest and most brutal conspiracy ever made, they pride themselves on being the brightest, most outstanding, sun-like brilliant conspiracy. The lethality of the "anti-rightist" far exceeds that of the new crown virus in 2020, a hundred times, a thousand times, and a thousand times. In the modern world, apart from China, which other country and place has such a tyranny that exterminates humanity and loses its conscience? Disaster can only be called disaster; sin can only be called sin. How can it be called a savior? Called merit?
China's authoritarianism (from the anti-rightist to the "Cultural Revolution", which is already totalitarianism) is really a model of world significance, Chinese my own understanding and reflection is too insufficient.

You and your team have pioneered and created a new variety of literature and history,
with outstanding merit and outstanding merit, benefiting long live the spring and autumn.
I owe you this Exalted salute.
